

RESEARCH PARTICIPANTS NEEDED

Black and African American women aged 18 to 35

Have you, or someone close to you,
experienced a potentially traumatic event
(like serious injury, violence, or sudden loss)?

Are you willing to be part of a research study on community mental health?

What this study is about:

We are a team of researchers and community partners who are hoping to hear from young Black women who have experienced traumatic or stressful events, including:

- Current mental health needs
- Beliefs about mental health care services
- Ongoing barriers to addressing mental health challenges
- Priorities and preferences for mental health programs

Why participate:

All participants will be compensated $50 for completing an online survey and a virtual focus group or interview. We will use the information collected to help guide our efforts to develop community-based (and community-led) programs to address trauma and mental health.
